Centennial Edition. Complete in 24 Parts.

THE ALDINE,

THE ART JOURNAL OF AMERICA.

SOLD ONLY BY SUSCRIPTION.

The Representative and Champion of American Taste.

The idea of THE ALDINE has always been to win its way as a teacher through the interest and affections of the people—to avoid a technical exclusiveness, and to show rather than to talk of art matters. Without abandoning the popular feature, the publishers feel that the time has come for a more particular discussion of topics connected with the artistic and æsthetic culture of our people, and to this end they propose to introduce many new features.

THE ALDINE will be thoroughly American and national, without being narrow or conceited.

It will teach Americans the beauties of their country and the progress of their art workers: but it will also bring home to their fireside examples of foreign masterpieces that shall show the heights to be conquered and stir the emulation and ambition of our younger civilization.

It will furnish communications on art topics from a corps of regular correspondents at the principal art centres of the world—making a connected contemporaneous history of the higher branches of human industry.

THE ALDINE AND AMERICAN SCENERY.

The glories of the unrivaled scenery of our country afford an exhaustless field for the exercise of the painter's art. Many attempts have been made to gratify the popular longing for scenes of "home, sweet home," but it will be universally acknowledged that, so far as our illustrated periodicals are concerned, such attempts have hitherto proved miserable failures—mere caricatures or topographical diagrams rather than pictures. It remains for the publishers of THE ALDINE to inaugurate an artistic movement that shall be worthy of the subject—that shall give American scenery its rightful pre-eminence in the pictorial world.

In this age and country of universal travel, it is astonishing how comparatively few are acquainted with scenes not to be viewed from the windows of a railway car. To ordinary American "tourists" the mission of THE ALDINE will be to reveal the undiscovered beauties, to them "so near, and yet so far." To lovers of nature, whose privilege it has been to enjoy the realities, these delineations will come as souvenirs in grateful harmony with the pleasures of memory.

1776. 1876.

THE ALDINE AND THE AMERICAN CENTENNIAL.

In accordance with their purpose to give the American people an Art Journal that shall be characteristically their own, the publishers have availed themselves of the approaching anniversary of the birth of the country to inaugurate that which shall hereafter constitute a principal feature of the enterprise, namely, the artistic illustration of leading historical events in our history. The noble proportions of THE ALDINE page afford every facility for the most effective rendering of details, without which a succession of pictures on any subject becomes monotonous and wearisome to a degree.

THE ALDINE AND PICTURESQUE EUROPE.

While all proper attention is given to national topics as a distinctive characteristic of the work, no fear need be entertained that its scope will be contracted or the cosmopolitan features of art neglected. The publishers are happy to announce the success of arrangements for placing before their readers a series of views of the grandest and most interesting scenes of Europe on a scale which is possible only with the broad pages of THE ALDINE. These pictures are no mere repetitions of the peculiarities of two or three artists, dealing with nature on so small a scale as to afford no opportunity for variety of detail or effect, but they are magnificent full-page plates, in every way worthy of costly frames were they not so appropriately placed in a work which is in fact an ornamental portfolio of high art. This new series of European landscapes will demonstrate the intention and ability of The Art Journal of America to satisfy all demands and to occupy every field of high art illustration.

The art of THE ALDINE, national and cosmopolitan, is permitted to range the entire world of reality, and to soar to the heights of the imaginative, so that a surfeit of one thing, however sweet, is impossible. Its subscribers shall recognize that they are supplied not only with the best, but with a heathful and refreshing succession of topics, as comprehensive and exhaustless as the appetite which is so carefully considered.

TERMS.

The "Centennial" edition of THE ALDINE will be completed in 24 parts, issued fortnightly, and delivered to subscribers for the entire work at 50 Cents each part, payable only as delivered. Neither canvasser or deliverer is authorized to receipt for or accept money in advance for parts not delivered, or to give credit.

☞ Parties desiring to sell this edition will receive prompt information regarding discounts and territory by applying through the mails or in person at the office of publication.

CHICKERING & SONS'

GRAND, SQUARE, AND UPRIGHT PIANO-FORTES

Have been accorded the HIGHEST HONORS, and are recognized as the STANDARD PIANOS of the WORLD.

LISZT, THALBERG, DE MEYER, GOTTSCHALK, JAELL, HALLÉ, REINECKE, RITTER, Dr. HANS VON BULOW, and more than 100 others of the World's great Artists, by their written testimonials, unite in an unanimous verdict that the Chickering Piano is superior to all others.

THE CHICKERING

UPRIGHT PIANOS

Are presented to the public as the most perfect Instruments of their class in the world, second only in real merit to the Grand Piano-forte. They are all constructed on our New System, and are all finished in the same careful manner, which guarantees their standing in tune as well as the Grand Pianos. Supplied with our new patent repeating action, which gives to the performer an exceedingly rapid, prompt, elastic and powerful touch, with a tone clear, pure and sonorous. The Upright Piano is, from its size and shape, better suited to hundreds of houses than is the Grand or Square, and it is rapidly becoming the fashionable Piano-forte of America, as it has long been of Europe, on account of the compactness of size and the beauty and elegance of design. We most cheerfully and confidently present our New Scale Upright Pianos as fully deserving the many flattering encomiums daily passed upon them. Come and hear them.

BLACK, STARR & FROST, SUCCESSORS TO BALL, BLACK & CO. FIFTH AVENUE, Corner 28th Street.

THE CHRISTIAN UNION.

Henry Ward Beecher, Editor.

MR. BEECHER'S intentions and the aim and policy of the paper have been fully set forth in the editorial columns. He said among other things: "I shall consider the CHRISTIAN UNION a parish parallel with Plymouth Church, and shall give it the same earnest zeal that I give to that; the same spirit, and the same views of Christian life and disposition." It is the only authorized medium for the publication each week of his SERMONS IN PLYMOUTH CHURCH.

AUTHORIZATION.

BROOKLYN, January, 1876.

Christian Union Publishing Co.,

Gentlemen:—Mr. T. J. Ellinwood has been the reporter of my sermons for some seventeen years; and he is the only authorized reporter of them. The sermons which you are printing, week by week, from his hand, are published by you alone, and are the only ones for which I will consent to become responsible. HENRY WARD BEECHER.

The paper will continue to publish all his literary productions, including the celebrated "STAR PAPERS." Serial Stories by Rev. EDWARD EVERETT HALE, D. D. (Author of a "Man without a Country," &c.); Hon. ALBION W. TOURGEE ("Henry Churton"), Judge of the Superior Court of North Carolina (Author of "Toinette," &c.); MRS. HARRIET BEECHER STOWE (Author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," &c.)

GENERAL CONTENTS.

The paper will present as great a variety as possible, by the best contributors. The several departments embrace the Outlook, or brief comments on current events, Editorials, Stories, Poetry, Contributed Articles on various subjects, Reviews of Books, the Household, the Little Folks, the Church, and the Week, comprising the leading news, both sacred and secular, the Sunday-School, Inquiring Friends (popular questions and editorial answers), Uppermost Topics, Farm and Garden, and Financial. The regular and frequent publication of appropriate Music will be continued.

For the small sum of $3.20 per year, including the prepayment of postage at the mailing instead of the receiving office as heretofore, we shall furnish fifty-two numbers of the Christian Union, or 1248 pages, comprising not less than two thousand three hundred and eight columns of reading matter in one year, which, if issued in book form, would cost the subscriber over ten times the subscription price of the paper.

The Christian Union has a corps of the best contributors, judiciously selected from all shades of Evangelical Christian opinion. It exhibits the fruits of careful editorial work, and was among the first to recognize that variety in a family religious newspaper is an absolute necessity.

WHAT OTHERS SAY OF US.

"Almost a model of typographical beauty."—N. Y. Evening Post.

"The departments of the paper continually grow in vigor and interest."—Republican.

"One of the very ablest papers that reaches us."—Standard of the Cross (Episcopalian).

"One of the leading weekly religious journals in the world."—Pacific Christian Advocate, San Francisco.

"Has stepped at once to the very front rank of our American religious journalism."—Central Christian Advocate, Pittsburg (Methodist).

"Among the ablest religious newspapers in the land."—American Presbyterian, Philadelphia.

"Full of vigorous vitality in every department."—American Christian Review.
